Forecast For Northeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Saturday 13 Feb 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Very cold and windy. Cloud thickening with chance of snow.

This Evening and Tonight:
A windy night and increasingly cloudy, with a chance of some snow for a time. Freezing rain is likely after midnight, mainly affecting higher ground including the Cheviots and Pennines. This giving hazardous, widespread ice in places. Minimum temperature -3 deg C (27 deg F).

Sunday:
An icy start for many parts. Cold and windy, with early sleet or freezing rain turning to rain. Snow thawing and turning quite wet later. Drier and milder overnight. Maximum temperature 1 deg C (34 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Noticeably milder with rapid thaw. Mostly dry and bright Monday, although rain affecting some hills. Windy Tuesday and Wednesday with some sunshine, but also a chance of some showery rain.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.